Friday 8th September

Janes Owston Trio

'Songs from an Imaginary Childhood' explores childhood memories. The concept arose while James was talking to his family about a recurring nightmare. Bassist James has been working closely with saxophonist and mentor Trish Clowes, who appears through the Jazz Central Mentoring Programme for Jazz Midlands.

Friday 13th October

Dean Masser Quartet

The hard-swinging Dean Masser Quartet play the music of the sophisticated giant of jazz Dexter Gordon, in his centenary year. Dean is a sax player with a big sound and lyrical style, and he will be revisiting classic Gordon numbers like Cheese Cake and Fried Bananas, plus well-known jazz standards.

Friday 10th November

Tom Morgan Trio

Led by Guitarist Tom Morgan, the trio perform upbeat tunes from pioneering guitarists such as George Benson, Larry Carlton and Santana. The trio aims towards a wider jazz audience and their repertoire includes popular contemporary songs as well as jazz standards. With Louis Connors on vocals.

Friday 8th December

Kim Cypher Quartet

Back by popular demand, Kim is one of the UK's most exciting and popular saxophonists, vocalists and composers. She has secured a reputation for top quality, stylish, accessible jazz. Drawn to the raw and earthier side of jazz, Her style is best described as funky saxophonist meets 1940's jazz singer.

Friday 12th January

Lee Jones Quartet

Guitarist Lee Jones makes a welcome return to these shores with his excellent quartet. Lee combines influences from modern jazz, fusion, blues, avant-garde, and rock, tonight bringing a very special quartet in honour of two of the giants of jazz guitar – Wes Montgomery and Barney Kessel.

Friday 9th February

Andy Morton

Andy Morton has had a long and varied musical career as a song writer and composer for TV documentaries, musicals and promotional pieces. With pianist/composer Tim Amman and the luminous personnel of the band he presents his songs and vocals to jazz audiences.

Friday 8th March

Annette Gregory

Annette Gregory is a jazz singer who is blessed with incredible vocal tones that are rich, smooth and full of soul. She brings her love of jazz, experience, and bags of personality to every performance. All that, plus a great voice with so much warmth and depth and feeling, in a tribute to the fabulous Ella Fitzgerald.

Friday 12th April

Örjan Hultén

This Swedish band is part of the new movement in European Jazz bringing Nordic rhythms and atmospheres to life. Örjan, one of Sweden's foremost saxophonists and improvisers, created his critically acclaimed quartet Orion from his desire to create something altogether new and fresh.
